

Question:

Is it allowed from Islam for the daughter to be present while the mother is giving birth in the same room in hospital?

What if there is a man doctor? is that allowed?

Answer:

While a woman giving a birth it is prohibited for any body to be present except those who have a divine permit such as female doctor or those who are permissible to be present such as husband or mother.

As for daughter to be present while her mother is giving birth it is a permit if the daughter is helping her mother (not just for watching) or if the case is an emergency and a male-doctor is presence.

Sheikh Omar

